

HawkEye 360 raises $9.6 million in a Series A-3 financing including Razor's Edge Ventures, a U.S. Aerospace and Defense Company, Allied Minds and Shield Capital

Boston, MA, 13 August 2018 - Allied Minds portfolio company, HawkEye 360, has announced it has raised proceeds of $9.6 million in the first closing of a Series A-3 financing round ("the transaction"). The round included Razor's Edge Ventures, a U.S. Aerospace and Defense Company and Allied Minds, as well as Shield Capital. Additional investors are expected to subscribe further capital to a second closing of the transaction to be concluded in due course.

Proceeds from the transaction will be applied to fund the development, build and launch costs of the company's first commercial satellite cluster and for general commercial purposes.

John Serafini, CEO of HawkEye 360, commented "We are pleased to have secured additional capital commitments to fund our first commercial cluster. This cluster will augment our PathFinder Cluster scheduled for launch later this year. The successful fundraise attests to the substantial development and operational progress made at HawkEye 360 towards our goal to become the global leader in space-based, precision RF signals detection, geolocation and analytics services. We have completed the build and pre-launch testing of our PathFinder Cluster and have built a significant order backlog. We also have several agreements with customers for beta testing of our first Maritime Domain Awareness product. We look forward to the launch of our PathFinder Cluster later this year and to commencing commercial operations in 2019."

Jill Smith, CEO of Allied Minds, commented "We are pleased that HawkEye 360 has attracted additional capital from high grade strategic investors. We look forward to the PathFinder Cluster launch and to HawkEye 360 delivering on its considerable commercial potential."

About HawkEye 360

HawkEye 360 is a data analytics company seeking to commercialise the capability to detect, independently geo-locate and analyse diverse RF signals from space. Using proprietary algorithms, HawkEye 360 aims to combine RF signals detection with other forms of geospatial information to produce contextually relevant analytics and reports for government and commercial end market applications. HawkEye 360 plans to operate clusters of 3 low earth orbit (LEO) small satellites flying in formation to provide independent data streams that can be used to accurately geo-locate diverse RF signals. Potential applications include emergency response support (search and rescue), transportation and logistics tracking, spectrum interference and coverage mapping, support for global health and humanitarian initiatives such as identification of illegal fishing and human trafficking, and support of national and global security activities.
